"AT HOME" AT THE CATHOLIC UNION

As was auticipated, yesterday being the feast of the Sacred Heart of Jesus, the members of the Catholic Union entertained their friends at an At Home. There was a reception in the hall of the Sacred Heart where over two hundred members and friends were present, amongst them being His Lordship Bishop Pozzoni, the Very Rev. Fr. Noval, Procurator of the Spanish Mission and numerous priests of variou Congregations, the Rev. Bro. Stephens," representing the Director of St. Joseph's College and other Brothers, Commendador Leiria and other friends of the Club,

His Lordship the Bishop entered the hall about 9.30 p.m. and the worthy Vice-President of the Club, Mr J. M. Alves, in welcoming the guests made a very eloquent speech in which be advocated the necessity of union amongst the members, and greeted with joy the marked increase of devotion to the Sacred Heart of Jesus, the patron of the Institution.

His Lordship the Bishop was received. with applause and spoke like a father to his sons, congratulating the members of the Catholic Union for their devotedness and enthusiasm in carrying cut the League of Secred Heart in a manner worthy of its

Then Mr Montalto de Jesus spoke very eloquently on points relating to the unity of the community and of the necessity to look forward for the welfare of everyone in The King and Isabel, by Author of their future career. The speech was enthusinstically applauded. After light refreshments the party adjourned to the King mead, by Baroness von Hutton "1.75 entrance hall when an imprompty concert was held which" was attended with great

CRAIGENGOWER C. C. CONCERT.

On Thursday night, despite the ill-luck of previous postponement; the open-sir concert in aid of the Funds of the Craigengower O. O. Pavilion was given with considerable scial, there being a large audience. The distinctly high class programme introduced a new artists of merit, Miss Carvalho. whose singing made a great impression.

Mrs Belilios sang "A Chain of Roses," with wonderful power, but was sadly handicapped by having to play her own accompaniment. Miss Carvalho's song, ("Sing Sweet Bird,"), accompanied by Mr de Silva organist of Kowloop, R. C. Church, was an exquisite gem. She sang with no apparent, effort, and has a natural gift for florid music. Her brills were prottily sung Mrs Kew and Mrs Braidwood completed the quartette of lally amateurs who so kindly gave their services, and each in turn was warmly applauded. Accompanied by the 13th Rajputa' band, Mrs Coke was responsible for the well known song Over the hills," in the "Shop-Girl splection. We were not surprised to hear her repent her successes of last year. Of the sterner sex, Mr Chapple, ably accompartied by Miss Squair; sang "Asleep in the. Tr. Addinger for above : WASAKI. deep: his bottom hotes being true, and though against a high wind, quite audible The untiring Hon. Sec. Mr Lional Lammort, sang twice, and Mr Gonzales' Violin Solo (Serenade by Ordla) was encored deservedly. His technique was of a high order. The Rajputs band had a series of sympathetic receptions, notably for their skilful translation of the overture to William Tell. The opening of the 3-4 time, illustrative of the scone after the storm when the young shepherd playing, was delightful, the oboes being tuneful, while the" birds' singing was an interpolation as welcome as it was effective-and by the bye, rarely done except in Vienna, or by large Austrian bands... On men also was a musical treat, and Colonel Prior and the officers ought to be pleased at their men's success. Coke conducted. The Committee allowed no waits, only one encore was taken though many were offered, so a big succes may be chronicled all round.

THE CAMPAIGN AGAINST

Major Ronald Ross, Nobel Laureate, whose researches into the causes of malaria have won him world-wide fame, lectured recently before the Royal Institution or said that his studies commerced eighteen years ago, and confirmed and extended by malaria were carried from man to man by certain species of mosquitoes; and that I was these carrying agents, and not th nearly the whole of the tropics, abounded in many temperate climates, and had been known to extend as far north as Sweden, where it was severe. The total bulk of misory caused by it was quite incalculable. More than this its special predilection for the most fertile areas rendered it economically a most disastrous ensure to mankind. Throughout tropical life it thwarted the traveller; the missionary, the planter, the soldier, and the administrator. There increased the general death, rate of m larious countries by something like 50 per cent. In 1900-1 a great discovery was made by the Americans in Havans, that yellow fever, the scourge of tropical America, was also carried by mosquitoes. There was no delay in turning that fact bo Colonel Gorgas principally relied against both yellow fover and malaria was the general reduction of mosquitoes. "After outlining what had been done in the same that anti-malarial campairns were not popular among certain cfficials. Few efforts were made to estimate the local organise any serious efforts against it, although it might be causing half the sickbility lay with the heads of the sanitary services of the Colonies. Many of them were not at all capable, who read no literature, undertook no scientific researches. and made no addition to our knowledge either of medicine or sanitation, and vei who managed to obtain the highest sanitary or medical appointments, either by saniority or by the well-known arts of self-service and wire-pulling. He was sorry to have to express such an opinion, but this type of person was much too common in all branches, of British administration. They repressed every kind of honest endeavour among their juniors; they filled the best appointments with their own friends; and they truckled to their official superiors in the hope of obtaining further preferment. At last, decorated and pensioned, they left the field to others of their own stamp-men without an idea or an ideal, except such as referred to their own. advancement. Reconstruction was urgently demanded. The success they hoped for ten years ago had not been attained. Malaria they understood fully, and could beat down when they pleased. The battle they were now fighting was against human stupidity.

Though Europe was so anxious to trade with the Orient it is will an open question whether the Orient ever wished to reciprocate. Perhaps it is fair inference to suggest that it did not at first care one way or the other civilizations came in contact with one another after a severance of well-nigh a thousand years there should be something like a clash? The individualistic and very material West meered at the communistic and ideal East; the East returned the compliment by cordially despising the West. The European and Oriental slike were the result of their environment. The inhabitant of the temperate zone had to live in spite of nature. The inhabitant of the tropical zone had to live by the help of nature and this led to the formation of diverse characteristics and also to the conception mutually-opposed ideals. only have been reasonably expected, a the happiness of the East than any comcollision not of interests alone but character, because unquestionably the the European contributed to their wel East, unintruded upon by Europe, fura would have been able to continue her long history very much on the lines

We have imported that into Asia, but we have imported also peace, prosperity, plenty, tranquility, and security, and, though I have admitted to the full the harm that was done by the savagery and functions of the carliest period of the European incursion into Asia, I maintain that sentenced to two months hard labour, six these gifts of peace, plenty, and pros perity have done more to contribute to of bination of events before the coming

> THE REV. F. B. MEYER'S VISIT.

The Rev. F. B. Meyer, B. A. of London, days. after a sojourn of eight days in the colony, has left for Canton to hold for a short period meetings and services of the type now familiar to so many in Hongkong Amoy, from which, port he will proceed northwards, making a longer or shorter stay from England. The reverend gentleman and Mrs Meyer will finally return to Europe

On the eve of Mr Meyer's departure we deem it well to place before our readers, in a few words, the design, method and results, as we approached them, of his work here. To regard Mr Moyer as an extremist in the usual invidious acceptation of the term would be wholly misleading. " One feature of the meetings has been the thorough-going reasonableness of their spirit and tone. So far as we could judge there was no appeal to the emotional in his hearers and the line of address which we may call ad cappandum was throughout eschewed Mr Meyer appears to assure that truth itself is truth's best evidence and that to declare and set it forth is to be assured that it will carry conviction to heart, mind, conscience and practical that life. From his point of view there is probably no call more assured than that close and uninterrupted touch with forces and is expected to make a fast passage. spiritual and divine. To be himself, as he phrases it. As regards the fulness and completeness of his ethical teaching. Mr Meyer's public utterances seemed to us admirable. It has always been to the praise of such as nature, to discern what is in man. Otherwise they may rub the sore when they should bring the plaister. Probably the two clements which mai strongly for success in Mr Meyer are experience alike "in the ways of God men "and not less so in the ways of me to God, joined with a style of speaking to fraught with personal magnetism and power that only the intensely spiritual ar endowed with, a force not analyzible human processes or to be accounted for human reckoning. It may be argued that inasmuch as the loss will be the direct suppose it's a further illustration of the fact result of the legislation decided upon by the Home Government, Mr Murray Stewart's contentions, are just. But what I wish to point out is that Hongkong has, rightly or wrongly, agreed to fall in line with the policy of the Home Government in siding China in this matter, and, having done so, she must be prepared also to bea her share of the sacrifices which will have to be made. Mr Murray Stewart himself sums up his attitude on the general policy in the terms of the resolution pessed by the Chamber of Commerce in which, according to his own showing, "no opposition to the policy proposed was offered, but, on the contrary support was promised"; while yet again he says, in reference to the Home Government's policy "We do not oppose it." It seems as if Mr Murray Stewart's is the discovery of Dr F. In support of the scheme for a train-The other side of our nature has also ferry service between Dover and Calais a deputation, including Lord Weardale, Sir Charles Rivers Wilson, Sir John Wolfs Barry, Admiral Sir Cyprian Bridge, and Sir William White, recently interviewed Mr Winston Churchill at the Board

> Lord Weardale said that slow progress had been made with the proposal in consequence of the reluctance of the South 81, Queen's Road Central, Eastern Railway Company to admit the failure of the Channel tunnel scheme. The different objections raised by the railway companies had been successfully overcome except in one important particular viv. the possibility of accommodation in Dover Harbour. It was upon that point that they invited the intervention of the Board
